OBJECTIVES

As a computer programming student at Georgian College, I have a strong interest in web development. With a solid foundation in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and React, I'm ready to contribute to web projects. I also have experience with TailwindCSS for responsive and scalable websites. Eager to gain practical experience and stay updated with industry trends, I'm seeking internships or entry-level roles in web development. I bring enthusiasm, dedication, and a commitment to learning to any dynamic team. Let's connect if you're looking for a motivated web development student.
